Farming: Ben Merz of Coastal Vineyard Care oversees the vineyard operations. Applying sustainable, organic and biodynamic principles, they farm ultra-premium grapes. On our property, we use no herbicides and all weeds are hand hoed within the vine row. If fertilizers, fungicides or insecticides are ever used, the materials have first been reviewed by the Organic Materials Review Institute. Pests are monitored on a weekly basis by our Pest Control Advisor and treatment is recommended only after certain thresholds are met. Therefore, the vineyard is only treated when necessary rather than treating on a set schedule. We plant an organic legume cover crop after every harvest in between the vine rows and incorporate these beans, peas and vetch into the soil to naturally fixate nitrogen and provide biomass for soil and food for soil microbes. This also helps with soil erosion control during winter rains.
